If going to a party, be sure to ask and don't do stupid things. (Shares a similar plot to the McGee and Me! episode "The Not-So-Great Escape".)

Huckleberry Fig and Plum Sawyer: Huckleberry Fig and Plum Sawyer are in a bit of a pickle when they are faced with whether or not they should save a slave named Jim (played by Fred the Apple). Along the way, they learn that doing what's right pleases God.

SCRIPT

RUNTIME APPROX.: TBD

THEME SONG

Theme song is the version from the 1994 version of Where's God When I'm S-Scared?, with clips from Mr. Cuke's Screen Test, VeggieTales Promo: Take 38, and The Princess and the Prophet Pea thrown in.

COUNTERTOP INTRO

(After the theme song finishes, the screen fades from black, revealing Bob and Larry on the countertop.)

Bob: Hi kids, and welcome to VeggieTales. I'm Bob the Tomato…

Larry: And I'm Larry the Cucumber!

Bob: And we're here to answer your questions.

Larry: Yep! That's right.

Bob: Now, today's letter comes to us from a girl named Zoe Dawn from Toronto, Canada.

Larry: Oh. What's it say?

Bob: (clears throat) Ahem… (puts on glasses and pulls out a letter) "Dear Bob and Larry, my mom gave me some of her homemade cookies, but she told me I should share one of them with her. I have a very difficult decision to make. So what should I do? Urgently waiting for your advice, Zoe Dawn"

Larry: Uh-oh. Sounds like trouble for her, doesn't it, Bob?

Bob: (gets rid of glasses) Yeah. One time I tried to tie my shoes, but I didn't.

Larry: Bob, you don't even wear shoes.

Bob: Good point.

Larry: But do we have a story for our friends out there anyway?

Bob: Oh, do we? Do you know my friend, Lizzy the Lime?

Larry: Uh, isn't she the girl who lives down the street who got into serious trouble when she made a bad choice?

Bob: The one and only. So Zoe, watch the story about when Lizzy got into a bit of trouble.

(The screen fades to black.)

LIME AND PUNISHMENT

(The screen fades from black, revealing the ceiling of a living room. The camera then pans down to reveal a lime named Lizzy, watching TV.)

Lizzy: (sighs) There's nothing good on. Hmm, what should I do? I could turn off the TV, or I could maybe find a channel with more interesting content. Hmm, (ding) Maybe I can find a pretty good channel. (switches until a good one comes up) Oh, look! It's The Adventures of Casey and Lenny. I love this show.

Casey: Gee, Lenny, you would look good in a pair of monster truck tires.

Lenny: Got that covered. (puts on monster truck tires)

Casey: Now, we're talking. Uh oh, Huey Scallion.

Huey Scallion (Scallion #1): Hey, guys, can I come over and play video games?

Casey and Lenny: NO! (Lenny uses a boxer glove to punch him away)

Huey Scallion: (screams while he's sent flying into the distance) AAAAAAHHHHH!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! (crash!)

Casey: Nice work, Lenny! Let's go and play some video games.

Lenny: All right, I got the first game! (he shows off a game of Tetris)

(A disclaimer pops up saying, "No scallions were harmed during the making of this show", and a TV announcer reads it.)

Announcer: No scallions were harmed during the making of this show.

Lizzy: Well, as a teen, I would never do this.

(Suddenly, the phone rings.)

Lizzy: Who would call at a time like this?

(She gets up, and answers the phone.)

Lizzy: Hello? Are you calling for my mom and dad, I presume?

Freddy: Actually, I was calling for you, Lizzy, it's me, Freddy.

LIzzy: Oh, hi, Fred, what's up?

(The camera cuts to a shot of an apple named Freddy and a banana named Benny on the couch, with two grape kids sitting impatiently beside them.)

Freddy: Well, um, Benny! Why was I calling again?

Benny: The party, Fred, tell her about the party!

Freddy: Oh, yeah, yeah, the party. Right.

(The camera cuts back to Lizzy at this point.)

Freddy: (offscreen) Listen, this won't take long, Ben and I are busy babysitting Mrs. Grape's kids. I was wondering if you wanted to come to a party tonight?

Lizzy: A party? Who? What? Where? When?

(The camera cuts back to Freddy.)

Freddy: Let's say 8:00-ish. Have you told your mom and dad? (dial tone) Hello? Hello? Why did she hang up on me?

Benny: Something tells me she didn't make the right decision.

Brother Grape: (turns over to Sister Grape) Well, what kind of fruit are you!
Sister Grape: A fruit? Only are you pony, so we're even!
Brother Grape: I'm not a pony, I'm a grape!! SO ARE YOU!!!
Sister Grape: OH, YEAH?!
Brother Grape: YEAH!!
Sister Grape: Why are we even arguing about horses anyway?
Brother Grape: WHO CARES!!!???
Sister Grape: (interposing) I mean is it so hard to see that you and I don't look anything like ponies?! Come on!!
Brother Grape: (interposing) You don't know grapes are a fruit!? Go ahead and fight me about it!!!!! I'M UP FOR IT!!!!!!!!!!

(The two grape kids start yelling at each other, as Freddy and Benny get bored and look on. Cut back to Lizzy and her family.)

Lizzy: Mom, Dad! I got something important to ask you.

Lizzy’s Mom: Hiya, honey.

Lizzy’s Dad: What is it, cupcake?

Lizzy: I have been invited to Benny and Freddy’s for a big party tonight, somewhere around 8:00-ish. Can I go, please? Please? Please??

Lizzy's Dad: No, you're not going to the party, Lizzy.

Lizzy: But why? I don’t understand.

Lizzy's Dad: Do you even know how late it is to go to the party?

Lizzy: D’oh! Why do these things have to be at very late hours?

Lizzy’s Mom: You know how Fred and Ben are. They like to be late night partygoers. We just don’t think you’re old enough to go to any late night parties. How old are you?

Lizzy: I’m 14.

Lizzy's Dad: (gets stern) Seriously, Lizzy!!? You are TOO under the age of consent to go out late to a party like this!

Lizzy: That’s not fair!

Lizzy's Dad: (retorts strictly) Nah-uh, I AM being fair and I am sorry.

Lizzy: Okay, fine! Have it your way.

Lizzy's Dad: Woah! Watch how you talk back at me, young lady! You don't patronize me.

Lizzy: (rebels) HEY!!!! Why can’t I do what I want?

Lizzy's Mom: That's very disrespectful, Lizzy. We're the adults, and you're the child. You do not make the rules. WE do.

Lizzy: I’ll just go back to doing what I was doing before, being bored.

Lizzy's Dad: No, you're going to bed. You're not staying up all night doing whatever you want. If you continue to sass us, you're grounded for a month.

Lizzy's Mom: You need sleep, it's important for your body.

Lizzy: That's what I meant when I said being bored. Now, good night.

(She goes upstairs and slams the door.)

Lizzy's Dad: Uh, do you think we were a little too hard on her?

(The camera cuts to Lizzy in her room.)

Lizzy: Oh, I am so sad. This is absolutely the worst day of my entire life! (cries)

(Lizzy jumps face-first into her bed and cries. After being silent for a moment, the camera cuts to a different angle and she gets up. The saturation is a bit brighter.)

Lizzy: What should I do? Should I just go to bed, or just sneak out? Hmm…

(She smirks for a moment before she grabs a rope via Mission Impossible and puts it out of her window and tries to climb out.)

Lizzy's Dad: I think I was too rough on our poor daughter. Do you think I should talk to her and tell her I still love her?

Lizzy's Mom: Well you DID say that she would be grounded for a month. Honestly, a few days would be a more suitable punishment.

Lizzy's Dad: Oh, maybe. You know what, dear, you're right. Perhaps I should talk to her about this. I mean, it's not like she's trying to sneak out the window! (laughs)

(As Lizzy's dad starts heading to Lizzy's room, the camera cuts to Lizzy, in front of Freddy and Benny's house.)

Lizzy: Hmm, I wonder if this is the place. Well, only one way to find out. (rings the doorbell) Excuse me, but I'm looking for Freddy and Benny's, am I in the right place?

Freddy: Come on in, I knew you would get permission from your mom and dad.

Lizzy: Let's get ready to party!

Everyone: (indistinct cheering) YAY!!! WHOO-HOO!!! (etc.)

Freddy: Let's see, how many pizzas do we need?

Benny: I say two [2] to five [5].

Freddy: Sounds good. I'll call to order the pizzas.

(Freddy walks to the phone, and picks it up. He puts the phone to his head, and calls the local Pizza Angel. The pizza delivery person, Pepper Oni picks up the phone and answers it.)

Pepper Oni: Welcome to Pizza Angel, how may I help you?

Freddy: I would like five [5] pizzas, two [2] cheese, one [1] pepperoni, and two [2] with green peppers and onions.

Pepper Oni: (nods) Thanks for your order, I will give the order to our chef.

(Pepper Oni writes the order on the piece of paper, and puts it on a metal clip for the chef)

Parcheesi: (nods and reads the piece of paper) It will take 40 minutes to bake the pizzas in the oven.

(Parcheesi the Scallion tosses the dough in the air)

(Parcheesi the Scallion puts the ingredients on the pizzas, and bakes the pizzas in the oven.)

(40 minutes later, the pizzas are sealed in the boxes, and put on the counter for delivery to the party.)

(Pepper Oni puts the boxes of pizza in his bag, and he hops out of the door for Pizza Angel. Pepper Oni climbs onto his motorcycle, with the bag strapped to his back.)

(Pepper Oni drives his motorcycle with the boxes of pizza to the party location.)

(Pepper Oni stops his motorcycle at the party location, and climbs off the motorcycle.)

(Pepper Oni walks to the door, and rings the doorbell.)

Freddy: Oh, good. They're here.

Pepper Oni: Be careful, the pizzas are hot and made with fresh ingredients.

(Freddy nods, as he grabs the boxes of pizzas, and gives the payment to Pepper Oni. Pepper Oni smiled and walked out of the door to his motorcycle.)

(Freddy put the boxes of pizza on the table, and whistled for the party guests to line up, and get their slices of pizza.)

(The doorbell randomly rings in the background, with Phil Winklestein answering the door, and letting in a strawberry. The strawberry’s name is Levi and he was running late for the party.)

Levi: (out of breath) I want to apologize to the party guests. I got caught up playing Space Invaders on my TV, and lost track of time.

(Levi smells the pizza and it looks so good, as he stared at the box)

Levi: The pizza smells delicious. I am getting hungry, while looking at it.

(Levi stands and listens to the band, playing the music)

(Two characters clink their glasses of orange juice in the motion of “cheers”; the characters dance around the house as a band consisting of Phil Winklestein and the Scallions play some music; characters are screaming wildly in excitement; characters are making a mess of the house eating all the pizza. But as time goes on, Lizzy suddenly feels regretful.)

Benny: Hey, Lizzy, are you having a fun time?

LIzzy: Why did I do it? Why would I do such a thing?

(Suddenly, blasting thunderous footsteps shake the ground from outside. A deep, ominous-toned bellowing voice is talking.)

Deep voice: (offscreen, ominously bellowing) That’s right, Elizabeth! You should not have done such a thing!

Lizzy: (yelps) GAH! (runs to the door and flings it open) Who are you?!

(It turns out that a big fat giant Eggplant Pharaoh is standing at the door, even BIGGER in size than the rest of the partygoers. The sky has now turned bloody red, music turns ominously scary and goes nuts in an Egyptian-like music style, and the partygoers are scared. As the Pharaoh speaks, he takes a heavy, thunderous hop forward per 2 seconds, and the ground shakes.)

Pharaoh: (bellowing) I’m the Pharaoh of Egypt, and your parents have told me everything that you have done!

Lizzy: What?! How did they-

Pharaoh: They went into your room to check on you, and when they found out you weren't there, they called me! This party shall now be officially crashed! Everyone surrender now!

Everyone: (screams) AAAAAAAAHHHHHH!!!!!!!!! (more indistinct screaming continues)

Pharaoh: Ha ha ha!!!! This is ALL OVER!!!! (to Lizzy) And YOU! You’re coming with me!

Lizzy: (panicked) What!!!!???

Pharaoh: (grunts) HEEEUUUGGGHHH!!!!!

(The Pharaoh jumps up high into the air and is about to squash Lizzy. Lizzy screams.)

Pharaoh: (growling) Ha ha ha, prepare to be squished!

Lizzy: No! No, no! Go away! (she prepares to get squashed, then screams) AAAAHHHH!!!!!!

(Eren hops to The Pharaoh and gets angry, while Lizzy lays on the ground.)

Eren: Get away from Lizzy the Lime, she's our friend, and you shouldn't bully someone that isn't your size!

The Pharaoh: Awwwww, the little mango is defending his friend, how sweet.

Eren: (growls) I'm not little, I am strong, and you're just a monster getting in my way!

(The Pharaoh picks up Eren, and the other party members are surprised.)

Eren: (struggling in Pharaoh's grip) Let me go, I am not done showing how strong I am!

Pharaoh: (growls) Little Mango, you can't stop me!!

(The Pharaoh throws Eren on to the ground and eats the pizza from his plate.)

Eren: (laying on the ground, depressed) Noooooooo, my pizza…

The Pharaoh: Thanks for the pizza, it was delicious.

(After finishing the pizza, The Pharaoh hops back to Lizzy.)

The Pharaoh: (growls) Time for another round of squishing, little lime.

(The Pharaoh prepares to squish Lizzy again, as the dream sequence ends with Lizzy's dad waking up Lizzy, who's still afraid.)

Lizzy's Dad: Lizzy, Lizzy, wake up. Wake up!

Lizzy: DON'T KILL ME! Where is he?! Where's the Pharaoh?

Lizzy's Dad: You were having a bad dream, honey, everything's okay now.

Lizzy: A bad dream?

Lizzy's Dad: That's right.

Lizzy: Oh, dad! It was horrible! The Pharaoh came and he captured me and took me in as a slave for going to that party! Oh, Dad, I'm sorry! I don't want to be sent away! I don't want to get into any more trouble than I caused! (she cries)

Lizzy's Dad: Is that what's been bothering you? Oh, Lizzy, that's silly, the Pharaoh passed away years ago. And no matter what happens we'll always love you and take care of you. We would never send you to Egypt.

Lizzy: Really, Dad?

Lizzy's Dad: Of course, sweetheart. I'll tell you what, since you suffered enough, we'll unground you tomorrow morning. Now, go back to sleep, and no more bad dreams. (He kisses her daughter and turns out the lights as she closes her eyes. Alone in bed at night, Lizzy falls asleep. The camera zooms into Lizzy's head into a dream sequence in a way similar to the one in the Pixar short "Red's Dream". The camera abruptly cuts to a curtain at a recital concert. An announcer calls up Lizzy onstage, and the audience applauds as Lizzy appears beside a microphone on stage. She begins to sing the song "I Know Better, God", and beside her is Freddy the Apple, who begins to play the piano to accompany the song.)

Announcer: And now, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, may I present to you, a song about making good choices, performed by Lizzy the Lime!

(The audience applauds.)

Lizzy: (singing) I was wrong, but now I know
I know better, God!

Thanks for reminding me
And out comes a better thought!

I'm so glad you helped me
When I had to make a tough choice

Oh, I will remember now and in the future
Thanks for reminding me, God!

I'll never, ever take the wrong path again
Being good means a 10/10!

The luck will never end!
Because of You, my friend!
Because of You, my friend!

(The song ends, and the crowd cheers and applauds as Lizzy takes a bow. The dream sequence then fades back to Lizzy's room, with Lizzy taking a bow crossfading to being asleep. She wakes up and looks up as if she is looking up to God.)

Lizzy: Oh, God, will you forgive me? You do? Oh, good! (she falls back asleep)

(The scene crossfades to Lizzy seeing Benny and Freddy the next day.)

Lizzy: Hi, guys. How was the party?

Freddy: It was fun, but it would've been a lot funner if you were there. Why didn't you come?

Lizzy: Oh, my mom and dad wouldn't let me go.

Benny: Well, wouldn't you like to be at our birthday party sometime next week?

Lizzy: No way! After that horrible dream I had last night, I never want to make any more bad choices ever again. Look, wouldn't it be a lot wiser if I called you or sent you a card?

Freddy: You know what? I think we understand completely. We're gonna go to the arcade, wanna come?

Lizzy: I'll catch up with you later. (As she continues to play in the park, we pan over to her dad.)

Lizzy's Dad: Hmm, maybe we could let her come to their birthday party. But IF she would come home in time for bed.

(He winks, and the screen fades to black.)

"WHAT'S IN THE BIBLE?" GAME SHOW

(The screen fades from black, revealing a book with the words "What's in the Bible?" on it.)

Announcer: And now it's time to play everybody's favorite game show, "What's in the Bible?!" The game where you get to show your biblical knowledge!

(Audience applause is heard, and the screen crossfades to an area of the countertop.)

Announcer: (resumes talking) And now, here's your host for What's in the Bible?, Archibald Asparagus!

(The same audience applauding sound effect is heard again.)

(Archibald comes onscreen, appearing next to Qwerty.)

Archibald: Thank you, thank you, very much ladies and gentlemen, and welcome to What's in the Bible?. The show where everybody knows what's in the bible! Now, let's meet today's contestants. Announcer, who do we have with us today?

Announcer: Our first contestant is the one and only top tomato of VeggieTales, Bob the Tomato.

(crowd applauds)

Archibald: All right, Bob, how are you doing?

Bob: Fine, Archie, but I'll be looking forward to playing your game.

Archibald: And now, who's next?

Announcer: The next player is the comic relief himself, Larry the Cucumber.

Larry: Hi, mom!

Announcer: And finally, the young five year old, Junior Asparagus.

Junior: Just call me Junior.

Archibald: Now, the rules are simple. I will ask a question from the Bible, and then some answers will appear on Qwerty's monitor, but only one of those answers will be correct. Each of these questions will be from three books from Exodus, Daniel, and John. Have I made myself clear?

(audience shouts in agreement)

Archibald: And contestants, are you ready to play "What's in the Bible?"

Bob, Larry, and Junior: (simultaneously) Yeah!

Archibald: Alright! Now, Qwerty. Are we ready?

(Qwerty looks over to Archibald and nods "yes". Cue game show BG music.)

Archibald: All right, let's try Exodus.

(Qwerty pulls up a verse on his monitor.)

Archibald: (reads the verse from Qwerty's screen first) And God said in Exodus 3:12: "I will be with you. And this will be the sign to you that it is I who have sent you." (then asks the question) What choice did Moses make when the burning bush told him to come back to Egypt? (Buzzer) Yes, Larry?

Larry: Stay in Midian?

Archibald: No, I'm sorry. (Buzzer) Bob?

Bob: He returned to Egypt to tell Rameses to let his people go. (ding ding ding!)

Archibald: That's correct.

(audience cheering and applause)

Archibald: Okay, let's try another question from, how about one from the book of Daniel, Qwerty?

(Qwerty pulls up another verse on his monitor)

Archibald: God said in Daniel 6:22: "My God hath sent and hath shut the lions' mouths, and they have not eaten me." (asks questions) Here's a yes or no question.. Did Daniel survive being in the lions' den for one night? (buzzer) Bob?

Bob: Um, no?

Archibald: I'm sorry, that's incorrect. I'll give you a hint. I was in the story. (buzzer) Yes, Larry?

Larry: Yes! He did survive.

Archibald: Yes! That's correct! Daniel remembered that God was taking care of him. And now, for our last question, let's go for John. Qwerty, got anything?

Qwerty: (font only, no voice) Let me check that. (wiggles his head and makes warp noises for a few seconds while Archibald is talking)

Archibald: Okay, let's see… (Qwerty finally pulls up the verse) It says John 1:8: "Watch out that you do not lose what we have worked for, but that you may be rewarded fully." Is it true that if we do what we're told, the best will come?

Bob: Wait a minute, is this a true or false question?

Archibald: (imitates buzzer noise) Um, yes, but that is not the right answer. (buzzer) Yes, Junior?

Junior: I guess the answer is yes it's true. (ding ding ding)

Archibald: That's…….ABSOLUTELY RIGHT, you've done your homework. And now it's time to announce today's winner of "What's in the Bible?" And the winner is….(drumroll) All of you!

Bob, Larry, and Junior: YAY!!!!

(audience uproariously cheers and applauds)

Archibald: (cont.) All of you because you all have guessed right! Sure there may have been some incorrect answers, but you got through it eventually. Announcer, what do our contestants win?

Announcer: For winning on What's in the Bible, all contestants win a trip to Mr. Slushy, a large pepperoni pizza with cheese in the crust, and a teddy bear!

Bob, Larry, and Junior: (indistinctly cheering) YEEAAHH!!!!/YAAAAYYY!!!!!/WHOO-HOO!!!!!

(more audience cheers and applause resumes and continues to the end)

Archibald: You heard it right here folks! Our players have played fair and square. That's all the time we have for today, tune in next time for another exciting game of What's in the Bible?

(The screen crossfades to the "What's in the Bible?" title card as the announcer speaks.)

Announcer: Transportation by Titanic Airlines, accommodations by Great Veggie Motels, Archibald's hair by Vischer Styles!

(The screen fades to black.)

HUCKLEBERRY FIG AND PLUM SAWYER

(The screen fades from black, revealing a fig named Huckleberry Fig and his partner, a plum named Plum Sawyer.)

Huckleberry Fig: Howdy, my name's Huckleberry Fig and this is my companion, Plum Sawyer. We're travelers that love adventures on the river.

Huckleberry Fig: Okay, Plum, where are we now?

Plum Sawyer: We're out here in the middle of nowhere. I don't know where we're going, but y'all can guarantee we'll be there, like Mr. Toad.

Huckleberry Fig: Well, don't just sit there, let's keep going.

(Huckleberry Fig and Plum Sawyer float down the river, until they get to a sign that says "Welcome to Kentucky!".)

Huckleberry Fig: Land ho! (they find land and land the boat) Welcome to Kentucky. Home to Fried Chicken. Plum, we better find a place to stay the night. Got your knapsack ready?

Plum Sawyer: I guess so. But where are we gonna find a nice cottage?

Huckleberry Fig: I don't know. Maybe we better ask somebody.

Plum Sawyer: That's a good idea. Maybe someone can lend us a hand for shelter.

(Plum Sawyer and Huckleberry Fig search around the place for a bit, and then they meet Henry the Potato near a tree.)

Huckleberry Fig: Hello, kind potato! We came here by boat, and we're looking for a cottage to stay in. Do you know where we can find a cottage?

Henry: There's a brick road that leads to a reservation stand. Follow it and you'll be there in no time.

Huckleberry Fig: Thanks!

Henry: No problem.

(Plum Sawyer and Huckleberry Fig follow the brick road and eventually find Scallion #1 at the stand.)

Scallion #1: Welcome, visitors! Want a place to take shelter in?

Plum Sawyer: Yep.

Scallion #1: Alright! Since the two of you are here, we've got many cottages available.

Huckleberry Fig: Show us, please!

(Scallion #1 shows them a guide.)

Scallion #1: Here are two cottages for one-hundred-and-fifty [$150]! One of them has all the luxuries and fun you'll ever want, and one is focused more on relaxation. Which one do you want to stay in?

Huckleberry Fig: How can we solve this? We can't pick both.

Plum Sawyer: Shouldn't we try an eeny meeny miny moe? Or rock, paper, scissors?

Huckleberry Fig: We don't have hands for that one.

Plum Sawyer: Oh.

Scallion #1: Just go for eeny meeny miny moe. Fair enough?

Huckleberry Fig: How about we flip a coin?

Scallion #1: Well, okay. Try this quarter. Whoever wants the big cottage will be heads, but whoever wants the small one will be tails.

(Huckleberry Fig flips the coin. It lands on tails.)

Scallion #1: Okay, now, which one wanted the small cottage? Was it you, Huckleberry Fig, or you, Plum Sawyer?

Huckleberry Fig: I believe I have.

Scallion #1: How much do you have?

Plum Sawyer: We have about two hundred [$200]. Is this enough?

Scallion #1: Hmm, that seems fair. There you go, have a nice day, and a nice stay. (laughs) That rhymed.

(The scene transitions to the two in the rented bedrooms.)

Plum Sawyer: You know, Fig, I believe you're pretty good at making good decisions when it comes to choosing where to stay.

Huckleberry Fig: Well, you know I didn't want that big ol' hotel.

Plum Sawyer: Is that a fact?

Huckleberry Fig: Nope. It's just the truth. After this, we better be hitting the road again. We need to ask for directions. G'night, Plum.

Plum Sawyer: G'night, Fig.

(The next morning, the rooster crows and Scallion #1 comes in.)

Scallion #1: Hey, wake up! You two!

(Fig and Plum can be heard yawning as they wake up)

Scallion #1: I have a message from you. It's from somebody named Jim. I don't know who this Jim is, but he says it's urgent.

Huckleberry Fig: Let me read that. "Whoever is reading this, I need your help. I've been held captive by Earl Eggplant and have been taken to Misery, Missouri, and I've been catering to his every whim all week. If anybody can read this, please save me. Signed, Jim." Well, Plum Sawyer, it seems we've got a mission ahead. Excuse me, sir, but we're gonna need a map. Do you have a map to Misery, Missouri?

Scallion #1: I always carry some for travelers. Here's the one for Misery. There are two different kinds of roads of waves to get to Misery. But only one of those is the right choice. Unfortunately, this is something you're gonna have to figure out on your own.

Plum Sawyer: He's right, Fig.

Huckleberry Fig: Let's go!

(moments later, they have their boat set up)

Plum Sawyer: What does the map say, Fig?

Huckleberry Fig: Well, Plum, it seems here that we have two roads of water. We could either go the straight route, or we go down that route.

Plum Sawyer: I vote that one!

Huckleberry Fig: I'm not sure about that one, what if there's something dangerous up ahead?

Plum Sawyer: What? Y-you don't think this spot is a good idea?!

Huckleberry Fig: I don't think, I know so. This straight line is perfect.

Plum Sawyer: Oh yeah?

Huckleberry Fig: Yeah!

Plum Sawyer: Well, I'll show you! I'm going down this route by myself.

Huckleberry Fig: Suits you fine! I'm going this way! (he gets into the boat and rows away)

Plum Sawyer: Um, does anybody know where I can get a boat? (he sees a boat right next to him) Hmm, how silly of me.

(fade to Huckleberry Fig)

Huckleberry Fig: I don't need Plum to get down this road to Misery, Missouri. I can handle it just fine. Hmm, maybe I shouldn't have left him alone. Maybe I should turn around and go find him. (he rows backwards)

(fade to Plum Sawyer)

Plum Sawyer: Yep, this is a good choice, I know best. Notice the calm pleasant fog bank. Hmm, what is that sound? It sounds like water. Louder and louder water. (looks dead ahead) It's a waterfall! Jumping jellybeans! I should've listened to Fig! (screams as he falls over the falls and lands in the water) AAAAAAHHHHH!!!!!!!

Huckleberry Fig: Don't worry, Plum, I'm coming!

(A fisherman can be seen picking up Plum Sawyer from the water)

Fisherman (Dad Asparagus): (sighs) I caught a whopper, what do you know?

Plum: Oh, thank you. Thank you! Thank you!

Huckleberry Fig: Excuse me, sir, but have you seen Plum?

Fisherman: You mean this man?

Huckleberry Fig: Plum Sawyer, you're all right!

Plum Sawyer: Listen, Fig, I'm sorry. I should've listened to you.

Huckleberry Fig: I'm sorry too. I should've considered your feelings. From now on, nothing will come to spread us apart.

Fisherman: So, where are you guys off to?

Huckleberry Fig: We're looking for Misery, Missouri.

Plum Sawyer: We're trying to find Earl Eggplant. He has kidnapped somebody named Jim hostage.

Fisherman: Oh, lucky for you, I think I know a shortcut. Follow me. On the boat. (Huckleberry Fig gets in and they row away)

(a while later, a sign appears saying, "Welcome to Misery, Missouri.")

Fisherman: Here we are, gentlemen. Misery, Missouri. I hope there's no charge.

Huckleberry Fig: Oh, no charge at all. Thanks for the help.

Fisherman: Well, I gotta be rowing along now. Cheerio.

Plum Sawyer: Bye, hope we see you again.

Huckleberry Fig: Now, let's go and find this Earl guy.

(fade to sometime later and they get closer)

Plum Sawyer: Are we there yet? I'm tired.

Huckleberry Fig: I think so. This must be Earl's cottage. I think we oughta knock. (knocks on the door)

Earl Eggplant: Halt! Who goes there?

Huckleberry Fig: I'm Huckleberry Fig.

Plum Sawyer: I'm Plum Sawyer.

Huckleberry Fig: We wish to see Earl Eggplant, please?

Earl: Well, look no further. You're looking straight at me. What do you want?

Plum Sawyer: So you are. Uh, do you have a slave working here?

Earl: Uhhh….why do you ask?

Huckleberry Fig: We found this note.

Earl: Oh. Well, it will take more than a couple of messengers to release Jim. You have to give ME something.

Plum Sawyer: What do you need?

Earl: I need about uh, five dollars.

Plum Sawyer: Five dollars?! No way, I'm not spending any more money after that very expensive pay on that cottage!

Huckleberry Fig: Plum, wait! You're not making the right decision. Do you want to save Jim or not?

Plum Sawyer: I know, but…

Huckleberry Fig: BUT we need to sacrifice our money. Are you in, Plum?

Plum Sawyer: Oh, I guess you're right. Some things are more important than saving money. Give Earl his money.

Huckleberry Fig: Here's your five dollars, Earl.

Earl: Thank you very much. Hey, Jim, get out here!

Jim (Freddy): What do you want, your majesty?

Earl: You're free to go. These nice gentlemen have lent me the money I needed to call up some real workers. I don't need you anymore.

Jim: (exhausted sigh) Oh, thank you! Thank you! And thank you! Tell me, you two. Uh, what are your names?

Huckleberry Fig: I'm Huckleberry Fig.

Plum Sawyer: I'm Plum Sawyer.

Huckleberry Fig: We came to rescue you.

Jim: Well, I just want to say thank you. Have you been sent from God?

Huckleberry Fig: Nope, we've been sent from perilous and dangerous water roads. But we do know that God wants us to make the best choices. Why don't we get you home now. But um, where do you live?

Jim: I live in another town far away from Misery.

Plum Sawyer: But how do we get there?

Jim: I don’t know. Fig?

Huckleberry Fig: Maybe, we can use the boat nearby.

Jim: That could work.

(The screen crossfades to them riding a boat into the sunset.)

Huckleberry Fig: This has been quite a day, let’s ride into the sunset and relax. Care to join us, Jim?

Jim: I would love to.

(The words “The End” appear, and the screen fades to black.)

COUNTERTOP OUTRO

(The screen fades from black, revealing Bob and Larry on the countertop, in front of Qwerty.)

Bob: We’re over here by Qwerty to talk about what we’ve learned today.

(The first half of the "What Have We Learned" song plays.)

Singers: (singing) And so what we have learned applies to our lives today
And God has a lot to say in His book!

Bob: Does that play every time I say that?

(Then, the second half of the "What Have We Learned" song plays.)

Singers: (singing) You see, we know that God’s word is for everyone
And now that our song is done we’ll take a look.

(The song then ends.)

Larry: I’ll take that as a yes. So anyways, Bob, what did we learn?

Bob: Well, Lizzy learned that sneaking to the party uninvited is the wrong thing to do. But she learned that God loves her no matter what, and she promises not to do it again.

Larry: Yep, and at the lake, Huckleberry Fig and Plum Sawyer learned that rescuing someone, who had been held captive, is the right thing to do and pleases God. Even if it means giving away your money.

Bob: That's right, Larry. Now let's see if Qwerty has a verse for us.

Larry: Okay. (they turn over to Qwerty)

Bob: Hey, Qwerty, do you have a verse? (Qwerty nods yes and displays the verse)

Bob: Okay! (clears throat) Ahem… God said in Hebrews 11:25: "Choosing rather to be mistreated with the people of God than to enjoy the fleeting pleasures of sin." So remember, if you have a very difficult time trying to make up your mind, try to make a good choice. After all, if you choose the bad one, it could lead to drastic consequences.

Larry: Yeah, keep that in mind, folks. (turns around to the left of the screen) Oh! Bob, look at the time!

Bob: Oh! You're right! (to viewer) Well, that's all the time we have for today. But remember: God made you special, and He loves you very much. Bye!

Larry: Bye!

(Bob and Larry hop off, the screen fades to black, and the credits start rolling.)
